

LOCAL RESIDENTS FIND HEAVY WORK SCHEDULE AT WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON HIGHWAY SAFETY

Public attention for the past several weeks has been focused on the White House Conference on highway safety, called by President Eisenhower in an effort to reduce the shocking rate of accident death and injury in the U. S. Two distinguished citizens, Mrs. Glenn Folkers, Frankfort, and Hal Kent, Tinley Park, were among those who worked unceasingly in committee and as a group to draft measures aimed at securing support for safety work at the community level. Mrs. Folkers is secretary of the National Rural Letter Carriers association, and Mr. Kent is employed with the National Safety Council. We have asked them to give their views and impressions of the conference.

The Editor.

By MRS. GLENN FOLKERS

Women have a very personal stake in preserving life on the highway. Of all people concerned with the problem, women have the most to gain by accident reduction; as wage earners the economic loss when they are personally involved is tremendous.

This was the keynote of meetings held by the women's group of the White House conference on highway safety, on Feb. 17, 18 and 19.

As homemakers, their services to their families are jeopardized and when husbands are injured, women face both an economic problem and the responsibility for long months of care and the assumption of family support.

President Eisenhower spoke to open the three day meeting aimed at saving 15,000 lives a year by cutting the traffic death toll by 40 percent. The President said there is "no easy solution" and added: "We live every day with this problem, which costs us so many lives, not only lives but grief and suffering. It is one that is many continued to first page, second section

"Hats Unlimited" was the title and this theme was carried out throughout the day. Mrs. Ray Cann of Peotone was chairman.

The Jackson unit, under the direction of Mrs. Clair Hemphill, was in charge of registration and each woman was presented with a name card that was a miniature hat, cleverly designed.

A hat juggling match was won by Mrs. Loretta Dempsey of the Troy unit. She wore a large sombrero type hat adorned with fresh vegetables. Mrs. Blanche Tetler, also a winner, wore a hat that looked like a large pancake with two sausages for trimmings. Mrs. Elmer Denby, Peotone, won the prize for the oldest hat which was one worn by her great grandmother.

Mrs. John Goodwin of the Wesley unit and Mrs. Harold Koehling and Mrs. Myrtle Lohrbach of the Will unit conducted games during the morning, and Mrs. Frances Schmidt of the Wheatland unit conducted circle dancing.

The afternoon program consisted of more games under the direction of Mrs. Francis Theis of the Joliet unit and members of the Wilmington unit.

Flowers, ribbons, veiling and other materials were furnished to the guests who were asked to make hats. A cake walk was also held with Troy, Will and Jackson units furnishing the cakes.

The feature of the afternoon was presented by Ann Lou Meeks, Joliet milliner, who gave a preview of some of the season's trends, presenting models wearing new versions of the latest styles in hats. She also explained the differences in various straws and fabrics used in making hats, and told how originals are often copied and sometimes made to look more attractive than the original itself.

Girl Scouts Will Honor Founding By Juliette Low

Tomorrow, March 1, 1912 is the birthday of Girl scouting in the United States. The day the first Girl Scout troop met in Savannah, Ga., with Juliette Low as leader. She was born in Savannah on October 31, 1860. She married William Mackay Low, an Englishman and they lived in England and Scotland. William Low died in 1905.

Mrs. Low was looking for a new interest in life when she became acquainted with the Boy Scouts and Girl guides through her English friends—Sir Robert and Agnes Baden Powell. She started her first Girl guide troop in Glen Lyon, Scotland. In January of 1912 she returned to the United States and on March 12 the first Girl guide company was organized. The name was changed to Girl Scouts in 1913. She helped build the organization with her energy, money, time and enthusiasm.

By 1915 the Girl Scouts was a national organization with a constitution, by-laws and a charter. She died in 1927 at Savannah. Since then a Juliette Low World Friendship Fund was established. It is made up of pennies, nickels and dimes which Girl Scouts from all over the country bring to honor Mrs. Low's memory on her birthday. The money is used to sponsor scouting activities in many countries.

During this special week the 58,000 club members in this state will join the more than two million others all over the country in helping to draw public attention to the values in the 4-H club program.

Volunteer local club leaders, extension service workers and the many other friends of 4-H Club work will join the young people in observing their week. 4-H Clubs are active in every rural county of the 48 states as well as in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

They will be telling their impressive story of achievement in the homes and on the farms through open house events, exhibits and window displays and in many other ways.

Through their project work and other activities, 4-H Club members add to the total farm wealth by growing and conserving food and putting into practice more efficient ways of farming and home-making on their home farms. They also make their homes and grounds more attractive, improve community health and safety and promote better citizenship and word understanding.

It's easy to belong to a 4-H Club if you are a rural youngster. Anyone between the ages of 10 and 21 years can join. Get more information about 4-H Club work from your local county farm or home adviser. They'll be glad to help you get started.

First Project Is Baseball Diamond

William A. Rose, landscape artist, submitted his conception of the new Mokena park to the Mokena Park board at its March meeting held in the home of Mrs. Hugo Neithammer.

The plan includes grace and beauty with a maximum of utility. It includes a baseball diamond, two softball diamonds, multi-purpose courts, children's playground, picnic area, shelter house, scout camping areas, nature trails, as well as a myriad of other facilities. This is combined with a well laid out road and adequate parking facilities, all intended to give the greatest possible use with the least cost.

The board, in accepting the plan, agreed that Mr. Rose had done his job wisely and well.

This plan, now accepted by the board, will be the basis for all future work to be done in the park. There will be no late discovery that some facility was wrongly placed as has happened in other projects of this type throughout the country. The board's sole purpose in securing this plan was its desire to give the community the most for its money, feeling that the cost of expert guidance now would be far cheaper than the undoing of costly mistakes in the future.

First on the development program is the establishment of a ball diamond adequate for the needs of the Little League. To accomplish this, Chairman Dean Rueckert appointed board members Clarence Lauffer, Henry Clark, and Charles Swanberg to take charge of grading the south ball diamond grounds for the Spring and Summer season.

Other projects, all in accord with the master plan now adopted, will be pushed to completion as soon as the means become available, he said.

The schematic drawing of the park will be displayed in the window of the Mokena State bank as soon as it is received from the firm now mounting it. The board feels that the plan will speak for itself and urges everyone in the Mokena area to inspect it and also invites the comment and suggestions of the viewers.

Sentence Carney To 6 Months on Bad Check Charge

Jesse Carney, 35, of Mokena, was sentenced March 2 to a six charge of passing bad checks, according to Roy Doerfler, Will county sheriff. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Anthony McKay and was unable to meet bond of $5,000.

Carney, after serving his sentence, will face prosecution by authorities in Cook county, where he is alleged to have passed a number of bad checks.

Hold Inquest For Leland Ains

A verdict of accidental death was returned Monday in an inquest held for Leland G. Ains, Joliet, who was killed early Saturday when his bakery truck was demolished by a westbound New York Central train east of Frankfort, just inside the Cook County line. He was a driver for the Peter Wheat Bakers, Inc.

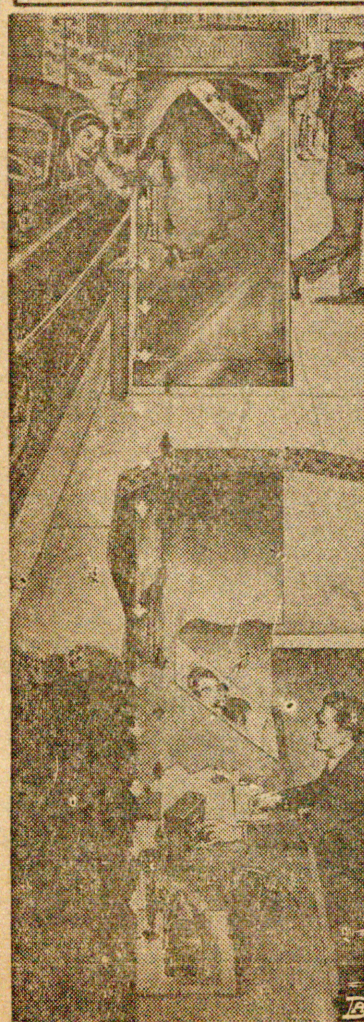

Ains was believed to have been traveling south on Ridgeland ave. when the crash occurred. The truck was carried about 75 feet down the right-of-way, it was said, and the train was delayed for three hours. The conductor was exonerated at the inquest, which was held in the Giardi funeral home, Chicago Heights.

Banks Go Underground to Speed Service

Modern banks are going underground to provide fast curbside service and eliminate double-parking in heavily congested areas. They're doing it with bullet-proof, weather-proof "Snorkels," devices developed by the Mosler Safe Company, builder of the vaults protecting the nation's gold at Fort Knox. A "Snorkel," about the size of a king-size mailbox, is installed next to the curb outside the bank.

The drawing shows the unit's 2-way periscope-type mirrors and speaker system which enable the motorist-customer to see and talk with the bank teller, safely seated beneath the sidewalk in the bank's basement.

Arrows show how the motorist in her car places deposit or withdrawal slip on a tray-like elevator which lowers it to the teller. In less than half a minute the bankbook is returned and the customer departs. Time-saving "Snorkels" are already being used by banks from coast to coast.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

by CHIMNEY STUDY

A low bow, an orchid, and apologies to Grandmother! I had been a firm believer in the idea that grandmother was a comparative loafer with not half the demands on her time that plague the modern housewife. It's still true that grandmother's routine was a lot less complex, but I'll have to confess she didn't have today's miraculous unpaid servants to help.

My defenses began breaking down when the Stuarts acquired a new automatic washer that practically thinks for itself. Then when a matching Whirlpool dryer arrived, I didn't have a leg to stand on! There's just no getting around the fact that our dryer saves more than a bank; in addition to money, it saves clothes, worry, disposition, time and work! Besides all that, our twin machines are a joy to behold with their beautifully-illuminated guide line control panels that take all the guesswork out of washing and drying.

On the dryer, for instance, you have at your finger tip the choice of four drying temperatures including the wonderful new "delicate fabric" control. You push a button and presto! the safe, correct drying temperature for any washable material known to man. Another button touch and you've selected a drying time for fluffy-soft, sunshine-fresh, and wrinkle-free clothes. Grandmother would have been positively green-eyed at these features alone. But there are even more refinements in this new machine. At any time while the dryer is operating, a light illuminates the interior when the front-loading door is opened and the tumbler and heating element automatically shut off. That's an important safety factor. When the door is closed the dryer begins operating again. Then something that's a real help on a busy day with twenty projects going at once... a cycle tone signals when drying is finished. If grandmother wanted to defend her position (though not much chance of that) she could drag out the old belief that sun-dried clothes smelled cleaner and fresher. She'd even be licked on that score! A built-in ultra-violet lamp not only gives clothes a sweet, fresh-air fragrance but helps destroy common bacteria as well!

All the while things are busily going on in the dryer a colored light follows and tells at a glance how drying is progressing as well as what temperature was selected. With all the controls and lights I feel like a pilot at the dashboard of a jet bomber... only a pilot never had it that easy!

Apple Trees May Be Pruned Now

Apple trees may be pruned any time this month when the temperature is above freezing.

J. C. McDaniel, extension horticulturist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture says one idea of pruning is to take out the weak wood, which is the source of small, poorly colored fruit.

Taking out all of the old, dead wood, broken branches, blighted twigs and blighted bark is also a sanitary measure to keep down infections of fire blight, black rot and other diseases, McDaniel points out.

Another reason for pruning is to open up the tips of the larger trees so that it will be easier to spray them when they become fully leaved in the summer. If any trees are getting higher than 20 feet, lowering the top can be started by cutting back the most upright branches to a healthy side branch.

CLOSE-UP, Channel 5's sparkling new nightly variety show stars lovely vocalist June Valli, the Art Van Damme Quintet, guest personalities and m. c. Howard Miller. Under host Howard's relaxed guidance viewers are treated to a Monday through Friday (5:30-6:00 p. m.) close-up visit with the Valli lass, most recently featured on Your Hit Parade, singing the tunes she's helped make famous on records, and the Van Dammes, augmented by trumpet soloist Dom D'Racy and saxophonist Ray McKinstry, who run the musical gamut from Mambo to Dixieland.

AFTER 23 YEARS as an all-music program, The Northerners are adding drama to their regular Monday night format—plus stereophonic sound. Drama in the form of narratives by such stars as Edward Everett Horton, Charlton Heston and Charles Laughton, will set the mood for each show. The famed choral ensemble, featuring soprano soloists June Browne and Marilyn Powell and the male octet, will continue to be heard, as will the Northerners orchestra under the newly assumed baton of Richard Shores.

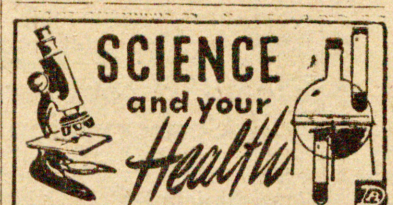

EARLY BIRD staff announcer at NBC, Henry Cooke, has finally hit on a sure-fire way to wake up in the morning. In order to arrive at the studio by 5:30 a. m. in time for sign on, he must rise by 4:00 a. m. Each night before retiring, Hank attaches the family vacuum cleaner to an automatic timer device, then sets the cleaner in a metal bucket. The resulting clatter, he maintains, would rouse even such dozy snorers as Rip Van Winkle or Sleeping Beauty.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

In the fall of 1954 the schools of Illinois will face the most serious shortage of teachers in the history of the state. According to a report made by Harold Gibson, director of the Bureau of Appointments at Illinois State Normal university the 49 teachers will not be able to provide more than 1,770 of the needed 4,900 new teachers who will be employed this fall.

Most officials feel that the only answer to the teacher shortage is a campaign to encourage many more high school graduates to go into the teaching profession.

THE ALMOST HUMAN ANIMAL

By Science Features
Many owners of household pets claim that their favorite animals are almost human. Well, as far as their ability to carry art and transmit disease is concerned, they are almost human. In North America there are 24 diseases that can be carried from the dog to man and about 12 from the cat, according to James H. Steele of the Public Health Service.

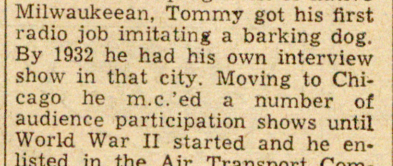

Rabies is perhaps the worst pet-borne disease, but it is controllable through prior vaccination of the dog and treatment of the bite. More than half a million dog bites are reported in the U.S. each year, but fewer than 50 deaths result from rabies.

A number of parasites that infest dogs and cats can be transmitted to man. Hookworm can cause a creeping eruption of the skin. The tick, which is carried by animals, easily bites man and is a carrier of Rocky Mountain Fever, a disease that has been reported in all but four of the states. In many cases the pet carries a disease without being affected by it.

But, where dogs and cats are almost human in their transmission of disease, they are also able to take the same drugs as people to cure their own illnesses. Drs. S. M. Pessin and L. Joran of New York City, administered the antibiotic terramycin by mouth, injection and ointment to 44 dogs and 9 cats. They concluded the drug was effective in combating the "almost human" infections that have not responded to other treatments.

switch as it sounds. Now he travels vicariously by listening to the tales of others on his Welcome Travelers radio and TV programs. A native Milwaukeean, Tommy got his first radio job imitating a barking dog. By 1932 he had his own interview show in that city. Moving to Chicago he m.c.'ed a number of audience participation shows until World War II started and he enlisted in the Air Transport Command. After the war Tommy flew for a commercial airline, then returned to the air waves with Welcome Travelers. Flying still plays a big part in the general redhead's life. He makes frequent week-end junkets to Florida or Canada for fishing in his own Cessna. Twice, while pleasure flying over Lake Michigan, Tommy has spotted swimmers in trouble and radioed for Coast Guard help. He is tall (six feet, two inches) and husky. Like many TV stars, Tommy battles with weight problem. "Only trouble is," he laughs, "I have two big files at home—one filled with diets, and the other filled with recipes!"

WHAT THE V.F.W. MEANS TO THE OVERSEAS VETERANAs a Parent...

Membership in the V.F.W. helps the V.F.W. foster the kind of patriotism that teaches love of country to the boys and girls of today—the citizens of tomorrow.

When a V.F.W. Post parades its colors, or sponsors the observance of patriotic holidays, or cooperates with civic and school authorities in doing those things that contribute to youth welfare, it is teaching respect and reverence for the patriotic ideals you have risked your life to preserve.

In thousands of communities, V.F.W. youth welfare projects (athletic and recreation programs) command the endorsement of school, church and civic leaders. The V.F.W. says the cure for juvenile delinquency is to be found in healthy outlets for youthful zest and surplus energy.

Every parent knows the truth of this formula—and that's another reason why you will be proud of your V.F.W. membership.

Eagles Win 1, Lose to Maryville

The Orland-Palos High school Eagles traveled to Lisle, Ill., Feb. 25, to play the team from Bensenville in the district tournament which was being held at St. Procopius college.

The Eagles, who had won 16 games of 25 played, were able to take the first round played against Bensenville. The final score was 55-46.

Coach John Jorstad's squad were not quite able to overcome Maryville's strong offense in the second night of the tournament also played in Lisle.

Fennell of Maryville fouled out in the last quarter but not until he had added 16 points toward the total of 53 with which his team ended. Don Gee was high man for the Eagles, who ended with 48 points.

National Tea Co. Reports 9th Year Of High Earnings

The ninth consecutive record high in sales was set in 1953 by the National Tea company, which has listed earnings of $462,281.957 in its annual report to stockholders. This is an increase of 14.08 per cent over 1952.

Dividends for 1953 remain the same as 1952, amounting to $1.60 on the company's common shares. Inventories increased to $31,858,810 as compared with $27,794,647 the year before as a result of installation of larger stores and additional warehouse facilities and expansion.

Wages paid to employees amount to $49,688,658, an increase of 15.15 over the previous year. Fifty two new National food stores were opened in 1953, of which 32 are in new locations and 20 replaced former locations.

Largest expansion move was the acquisition of the Food Center stores, Inc., in May which added 28 supermarkets in the St. Louis area, together with warehouse facilities and a meat packing plant. Most recent of additions was the purchase of Capitol

Stores, Inc., in Louisiana. It gave National Tea 28 supermarkets with warehouse facilities in New Orleans and Baton Rouge, H. V. McNamara, National Tea company president, said.

"With improved merchandising in our stores and the improvement in the handling of warehouse and transportation facilities, plus the outstanding cooperation we have had from our employees in the past, which I am sure will be continued in the future, we believe our operating cost will be kept within reasonable limits, and we look forward to 1954 confident that we can continue to improve both our sales and profits. To our employees we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for their cooperation which has made these improved results possible."

Elect Officers for Soil Conservation

The South Cook County Soil Conservation District elected three men as district directors for a two-year term at the annual meeting Feb. 22. They are: James Heatherwick, Orland Park, and Arthur J. Brandau, and William H. Stelter, Tinley Park. Directors whose terms continue through the present year are Donald Doctor, Orland Park, and Cornelius Rietveld, South Holland.

These directors will be in charge of planning the soil conservation district program for the South Cook Soil Conservation District during the next year. They will also have the assistance of Homer Kuder, soil conservation district farm planner. All applications for assistance from the Soil Conservation Service through the district should be directed to this newly elected district board.

The first meeting of the board will be on Tuesday, March 9 at 7:30 p. m. in the Tinley Park Farm Bureau building. At this time officers will be elected and regular business considered.

Brownie Troops Have Several Birthday Events

Brownie scouts in troop 107 have made an American flag of paper links. Each helped make a chain and their leaders helped make them into the flag. It is on display at Boleman's drug store for Lincoln and Washington's birthdays. The troop also had a party and are working on acorn puppets.

Brownie scouts in Mrs. Mary Zameske and Mrs. Joseph Klingner's troop have been working on Easter gifts for their mothers.

Brownie troop 103 invited Brownie troop 186 to its Juliette Low birthday party. A puppet show was given, songs sung and games played. Each brought pennies for the Juliette Low fund. Refreshments were served from a decorated table. Nut cups were made by troop 103.

Last week Mrs. Walter Yunker, Mrs. Mildred Anderson and Mrs. Ervin Friant took the girls to Mrs. George Rinke's home to see the parakeets. She explained about care of the birds and showed stages of development from eggs, to grown birds. The girls enjoyed seeing ribbons won in shows. They also had a party and gift exchange. Each made a valentine for her parents.

Girls of troop 40 and their leader Mrs. J. S. Perry have been working in the music field. Instruments of a symphony orchestra were played on a record and the girls named them. Some brought pictures or instruments to the meeting and described and discussed them.

Samples of handicraft are being turned in to the Joliet scout office so that they may be shared with others.

A Juliette Low birthday party was held March 4. A tribute to her was read and a story of the beginning of Girl scouting given. Games were played and refreshments served. Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Edward Sproat and Mrs. J. S. Perry.

The Neighborhood council meeting for March was cancelled due to inclement weather. The next regular meeting will be held on April 6.

Here's a new-style chair with a flare for saving walls! The tubular steel chair, introduced recently in Chicago, is designed with flared rear legs which extend beyond its back. Begin Tournament Play at New Lenox Mokena will play Frankfort at first annual New Lenox grade school basketball tournament. The second game will be played between Troy and the host school, New Lenox.

Losers of tonight's game will play for third place at 7 p.m. Friday, with tonight's winners fighting for the championship at 8 p.m.

Loopholes will be given for first, second and third places. With the cooperation of the visiting schools and the public, the New Lenox school system hopes to make this an annual affair and to enlarge it to eight teams next year.

Good Soil Cuts Ups Oat Yields Boosts Profits

HIGH yields are a must if you want to make money out of your oat crop, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Getting these high yields, say the committee, involves several major steps: 1—Early planting. 2—Using variety, disease-resistant varieties of oats. 3—Adding sufficient fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash. The soil can supply the crop with a balanced feed of nutrients.

Yields of from 30 to 70 bushels of oats per acre have been reported from several Midwestern states where the right kind and amount of fertilizer was added.

How big an increase per acre you get depends on how fertile the soil was to start with, and how favorable the growing conditions are. Soils men repeat that while many fields are nitrogen-poor, particularly in the fields used a fertilizer that combines nitrogen with phosphate and potash.

The new high-yielding, disease-resistant oat varieties will make heavy fertilization the committee points out.

Using fertilizer high in phosphate and potash will help to get good legume yields the following year. These nutrients help the legumes establish and stand that are not starved of the expense of the oat crop.

Driving Yourself To Death

SLOW DOWN : Take heed of speed, the major cause of highway accidents. Other circumstances enter into the gloomy picture of injury and death on the highway, too, but reports show that excessive speed caused close to 30% of last year's fatalities on the highway.

Driving is serious business, not monkey business. Don't be a "trick or treat" driver. Don't try to impress your passengers with your trick-driving ability. Keep your speedometer at a speed reasonable and proper for existing traffic conditions. Know the rules of the road and obey them. When a sign reads slow down that's what it means and it means you. Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, in a safety message to young and old drivers everywhere, reminds them to take it easy behind the wheel. You'll arrive at your destination a little late, but you'll be there in one piece with peace of mind.

Careful Grazing Builds Pastures

YOUR blue grass pastures give you extra tons of forage last longer into summer come back quicker in the fall if you feed them a well-balanced supply of nutrients this year and be reasonable about grazing them.

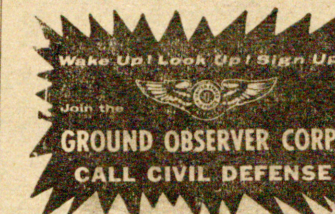

But if you underfeed and graze them, they will fold up soon as warm weather comes and have a hard time regrowing later on.

"Well fertilized, carefully grazed, permanent pastures give a full cover and keep soil cool," points out the Mid West Soil Improvement Committee. "That adds up to more green days for your beef and cattle."

"Some soils men recommend using the equivalent of pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer per acre on bluegrass."

"Adding a nitrogen fertilizer after the first grazing, then helps stretch out the grazing season."

Thousands of acres of Midwestern grasslands could produce two or three times more forage for livestock if sufficient fertilizer were added and good grazing methods followed.

Francis Loughran To Be Candidate For Representative

Francis J. Loughran, a Democratic standard bearer for more than 30 years, announces his candidacy for representative of the 41st Senatorial district in the April 13 primaries.

He is the son of Mrs. Anna Loughran and the late Michael Loughran, and was born and raised in Joliet. He attended St. Mary's Parochial school and Joliet Township high school.

While earning his law degree at DePaul university, Loughran worked as a switchman for the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad. He became affiliated with the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Long active in Democratic politics in Will county, Loughran served as Democratic central committeeman for 14 years and was elected a delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1948.

From 1948 thru 1952 he served as assistant state's attorney of Will county, the only post for which he received a salary.

He is known throughout Will County as "Mr. Democrat," and has fostered and perpetuated the causes of the Democratic party and has long been recognized as a leader among its forces.

He has continually allied himself to the Democratic party at all times.

A staunch churchman, Loughran is an active member of St. Bernard's Catholic church. He is a member of the parish's Holy Name society and the St. Vincent DePaul society.

Mr. Loughran resides with his wife, the former Mary Dwyer, and four children at 1220 Sterling ave., Joliet. His children are Francis Jr., 16, a student at St. Ambrose college, Davenport, Ia. Edward, 16, a student at Joliet Catholic high school; Kathleen, 14, a freshman at St. Francis academy, and Maureen, 6, first grade student at St. Bernard's parochial school.

Mr. Loughran, a veteran of World War I is a member of the Harwood post American Legion. He is also a member of the Old Timers Baseball association of Will County and has long been active in civic affairs.

For many years, Mr. Loughran was associated with the late P. Francis Boetto and Bernard Kelly in the practice of law. His present associates are Attorneys W. Edwin Long, Dominic F. Boetto and Joseph Rymasz, with offices located in the Chalstrom building, Joliet.

File Petition on Sangmeister Estate

A petition has been filed in Probate Court on the estate of Arthur H. Sangmeister, Frankfort, who died Jan. 27. It asked that his brother be appointed administrator.

The estate consists of personal property not to exceed $75,000 and real estate not to exceed $9,000. There was no will. Heirs include four brothers, Emil, Clarence, and Milton, of Peotone, and Edwin, Manteno; and three sisters, Emma of Peotone, Celia Reimers, Frankfort, and Rose Bettenhausen, Tinley Park.

Warn Farmers Insect Pests May Hit County

Will County is one of the six of the top producing agricultural counties in Illinois which may be hit by severe outbreaks of crop destroying insects in 1954.

This prediction is by H. B. Petty, University of Illinois entomologist, in an article appearing in the February issue of the IAA Record, the Farm Bureau magazine.

Based on fall "census" figures of over wintering insects, Petty says the counties of Will, Kankakee, Iroquois, Livingston, McLean and Ford may be hit the hardest. Severe cold weather and heavy rainfall during what's left of winter could alter the insect outlook, he said.

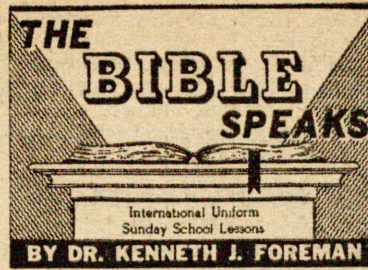

The counties most likely to be hit may suffer heavy infestations of chinch bugs, spittlebugs and corn borers. "I'll pay to spray," Petty said. "Illinois farmers got back between $4 and $5 for each $1 they invested in insecticides during the 1953 crop year. And 1954 looks like it'll be another record year for bugs," he said.

How to Obtain Soldiers' Ballots

Application for a ballot to be mailed direct to any person in the military or naval service may be made by a parent, brother, sister, husband or wife, according to Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter. He called attention to an amendment to the state election code, adopted in 1951.

Application forms are available in the office of county clerks, or, in those cities having boards of election commissioners, in their offices.

Three Ifs

Lesson for March 14, 1954

THERE are important Ifs in the Christian life. The word IF keeps coming up all through the Bible. This does not mean that the Christian life is based on uncertainties. It does mean, however, that there is nothing automatic about it. At an "Automat" restaurant you can put coins in the slot and watch pie, sandwiches, coffee or what-will-you-have, come out of the wall. But the life of the Christian is not like that. You can't put a dime in a slot and expect the rest of the day to pour out all the virtues without your having to do another thing. Important conditions have to be met.

Many Ifs of the Bible can well be expressed in the words "Only when..." Three times Jesus used that fateful word in the hours when he was face to face with his destiny, when he was facing the Cross. These Ifs had to do with himself. They also had to do with his friends. Not only his friends there and then, but now and here, in a short, but every Christian. One of these Ifs is in his saying about the grain of wheat. Save the grain. Cover it with protective varnish. Keep it in a tin box, put it in a bank vault, you may save the grain but you will destroy its life. There will be no other grains. Put the grain of wheat in the ground where it can rot, and in a few weeks that grain will be gone, it will have died; but where it died there will be a green blade growing, a blade that one day will be a wheat stalk bearing many grains. If—only when—there is death can there be life. Jesus meant that for himself; if he had refused the cross he would not have been the "Prince of Life" and Saviour. He meant it for us; those persons who mean most in the lives of others, those vital personalities who by a kind of bright contagion bring vitality wherever they go—those are the very persons who are least careful for their own selves. Wherever people are scrambling every man for himself, there you have strife and destruction.

Dr. Foreman

"If It Dies"

Many Ifs of the Bible can well be expressed in the words "Only when..." Three times Jesus used that fateful word in the hours when he was face to face with his destiny, when he was facing the Cross. These Ifs had to do with himself. They also had to do with his friends. Not only his friends there and then, but now and here, in a short, but every Christian. One of these Ifs is in his saying about the grain of wheat. Save the grain. Cover it with protective varnish. Keep it in a tin box, put it in a bank vault, you may save the grain but you will destroy its life. There will be no other grains. Put the grain of wheat in the ground where it can rot, and in a few weeks that grain will be gone, it will have died; but where it died there will be a green blade growing, a blade that one day will be a wheat stalk bearing many grains. If—only when—there is death can there be life. Jesus meant that for himself; if he had refused the cross he would not have been the "Prince of Life" and Saviour. He meant it for us; those persons who mean most in the lives of others, those vital personalities who by a kind of bright contagion bring vitality wherever they go—those are the very persons who are least careful for their own selves. Wherever people are scrambling every man for himself, there you have strife and destruction.

"If Any One Serves Me—"

Another If is in the saying, "If any one serves me, he must follow me." Jesus did not mean follow at a long and respectful distance. He meant to climb where he climbed, dare what he dared. Jesus had put this in even stronger words some time before. His follower, he said, must take his own cross every day and follow Him. Christians are rather too fond of looking at the cross, and letting their Christianity go at that. But the Christian life is not like looking at a show, not even at a tragedy. We see the cross in every Christian church somewhere, perhaps even the building is in the shape of a cross. But what Jesus asked for in his followers was not a cross before their eyes but a cross in their lives. To put it quite simply: Christian life, when it is real, is a life of sacrifice for others. It is a life in which self comes last, not first. A doctor said to his patient: "I think most people are Christians, don't you?" That depends on what you mean by Christian! If you mean by that, some one who admires Jesus, yes, most people are Christians. But if you mean what Jesus meant, one who actually follows Jesus, how many Christians are Christian?

"If I Be Lifted Up"

The third If is in the saying "If I be lifted up I will draw all men unto me." We may suppose a hard-boiled practical man of today, or of Jesus' day, possibly Judas was such a person—asking Jesus, Just why do you go on with this idea of the cross? Why let yourself in for trouble? What do you get out of it? If we let Jesus speak for himself, we know that he no more went to the cross to "get something out of it" for himself than he did anything else for selfish reasons. He did not live, he did not die, for his own benefit. His life and his death were all of one piece; his death was but the final pouring out of a life that had been pouring itself out into others and for others, from the beginning. He did not go through Gethsemane and Calvary in order to be praised, or to acquire merit, or to win a place among the world's heroes. He went to the cross, as he had lived every day, to "draw all men" to himself.

Local Residents—

(Continued from first page) sided and every citizen can contribute to its solution if nothing more than sense of responsibility when driving his car or taking care of his children. We have got to learn to control the things we must use ourselves and not let them be a threat to our lives and loved ones."

Public Opinion
Mr. Eisenhower urged the conference to mobilize public opinion in their own communities. He said "In a democracy, public opinion is everything. If we can mobilize sufficient public opinion, this problem like all others can be solved."

The United States Marine band with colorful uniforms and stirring music sent forth a note of thrill and pride when "Hail to the Chief" was sounded and President Eisenhower was escorted to the platform.

After lunch delegates and guests assembled in group sessions for their particular interests. The women's group was that with which I had worked in January on the agenda, with others on the advisory committee. We met in the Washington hotel where Mrs. Raymond Sayre, Ackworth, Ia. immediate past national president of the Countrywomen of the World called the meeting to order with over 250 in attendance.

Mrs. Katherine G. Howard, deputy administrator of Federal Civil Defense Administration, cited speeding as the number one killer of the United States highways and called speeding "the atom bomb of the American highway."

Mrs. Raymond Sayre, chairman, presented a scroll to Mrs. Richard Nixon, in recognition of 24 years safe driving record. The certificate expressed appreciation of Mrs. Nixon as "an outstanding example of American womanhood," and recognized her leadership in patriotic service and interest in preservation of human lives.

The theme of the Women's discussion was a "How" and not a "What" conference. The "What's" of traffic safety, speeding, traffic fatalities etc. The "How's" is to find out how to get local community support to put local traffic safety program, how to arouse public opinion and keep it aroused, how to work within an organized group and after that is accomplished, how to keep that group sustaining a program on a year to year basis.

Workshop

Delegates met later in "workshop" groups to discuss practical ways of promoting highway safety. I was not able to attend this "workshop" as I had been asked to serve on the committee to draft recommendations presented before the combined session to vice president Nixon, along with reports of all basic groups. The Vice President said "the highway safety program is one of continuing education."

President Eisenhower will,

from these reports, "take necessary steps to promulgate the safety program." Recommendations included in the committee report are calling of safety conferences by the governors of all States, organized action by states and communities on a sustained, long term basis and a "crusade for safety" in every city, town and village.

It is not possible to rely alone on the three E's, engineering, enforcement and education. They believe we should also rely on the Three A's of individual responsibilities, Awareness of what I ought to do, Acceptance of what I ought to do, Action for what I will do.

Many participated in the escorted tour of the White House but the highlight of a social function was a beautiful tea given for all women in attendance. I was again thrilled to have been asked to be in the "receiving line" for delegates and guests who are vitally interested in highway safety.

I am very grateful for the privilege to participate in this safety conference and hope that I have enlightened many women and asked them to help teach respect and courtesy to our rural carriers who travel the highways giving "Service With a Smile."

By HAL KENT

Leadership and public support! That is the gist of what came out of the White House Conference on Highway Safety held in Washington, Feb. 17 to 19.

The leadership came from the top—the President of the United States—and was reflected in the make-up of the seven participating groups representing agricultural, business, labor, women, public officials, organizations and media of public information. Delegates to the three-day Conference had the benefit of the experience of America's top traffic safety leadership, and in addition, heard the problem as presented by officials and professionals in the field.

Franklin M. Kreml, director, Northwestern University Traffic Institute, told them how to save 20,000 lives next year and prevent 600,000 injuries, if they would develop vigorous public support at the local level.

Adequate public support is yet to come, but delegates pledged themselves to produce it at the grass roots via every means of communication and organization known today. These delegates were top leaders in their fields, men and women who make policy decisions that determine direction for most of America.

Grass Roots

And the grass roots were heard from, too.

A six-foot-plus, slow spoken Missourian, J. E. Smith, from Centuria, got and gave more than the $200 worth it cost him to attend the conference.

While presidents of some of the largest corporations in the nation listened approvingly Smith, who "works" in a small manufacturing plant in Centuria, voiced some grass roots ideas on traffic safety that brought hearty applause.

"Trouble is," he said, I wrote the Governor some of my ideas and next thing I knew he'd sent me up here, at my own expense. I figure it has cost me about $200 so far, so I'm going to get my money's worth.

"First off, I don't think you can legislate safety into drivers. I think speed is a matter of relativity, some places and times it's ok, others it's not; and I think the main problem is educational. Seems that 80 per cent of the accidents are caused by 15 per cent of the drivers, so we ought to concentrate on them.

"I'd like to see somebody write a book on 'How to Drive an Automobile'. Seems like no one's gotten around to it yet, and I bet it'd sell like hot cakes.

"I'd like to see more driver education in high schools, other places, too. They ought to make it compulsory. Be a lot more good than a class in poetry, seems to me.

Sell Safety

"I think we can sell safety to youngsters by selling them the idea that it is smart to be safe. As it is, there are too many smart-alec showoffs on the road today."

Smith said he thought the conference was a "good idea" and that the idea of Harlow Curtice (president of General Motors and chairman of the business group) to form local safety organizations was good. "I know I'm going to get one rolling in Centuria," he declared.

The farm groups heard Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson point out that no one has a bigger stake in traffic safety than the farmer. As he put it: "Farm residents suffer more fatal motor vehicle accidents than any other type of accident. Some of these are caused by the farm people themselves. Many are caused by non-farm residents who use the highways that go by farms.

"Farm production is vital to America's welfare, now and in the future. The huge waste of vital farm manpower and material resources caused by accidents must be stopped."

By Thursday noon, Feb. 18 the delegates had finished after hearing many other competent speakers, and in the final session presented capsule versions of their findings to Vice President Nixon, who forwarded them to the President.

"This conference has all the earmarks of being different", the Vice President said. "For this is a problem which must be solved on Main Street instead of Pennsylvania Avenue. The federal government can give leadership but local officials have to do the real job.

Corn Allotments Will Arrive in Few Weeks: Heisner

The 1954 corn allotments for Will County will be in the mail within a few weeks, according to Adam F. Heisner, chairman of the Will County ASC committee. Will County's corn allotment acres for 1954 are 129,763—compared to the year history, a 26% reduction. Any farmer not staying within his allotment acres is ineligible for price supports on his 1954 corn, such as a loan or purchase agreement.

"It is true that the reduction required by most counties is quite high," said Heisner. Nevertheless, we must recognize that supplies of corn have continued to increase, CCC bins are full, and a big crop this year would further aggravate the storage and supply situation. Furthermore, allotments represent a related part of the whole price support endeavor, and to maintain such supports production must be kept in line with foreseeable needs.

The chairman also stated that the farmer requesting government cost sharing on his farm thru the 1954 ACP should receive his tentative or notice of approval soon. He also stated that soil testing is a must for almost all practices in the 1954 program and that only approved soil testing laboratory tests will be accepted more from individuals or high school.

Repair Dresden Lock Near Joliet

Major repairs being made on the Dresden Island lock, on the Illinois waterway 16 miles south west of Joliet are expected to be completed by the close of February, according to Colonel Phil ip F. Kromer, Chicago district engineer.

This will bring to an end a 5 year lock reconditioning program for the five high-lift locks of the upper Illinois waterway.
Start of the repairs, originally scheduled to get underway Jan.
11, was delayed until Jan. 19 because of unforeseeable navigation problems.

Col. Kromer said the engineers and workmen are keeping the 6 week completion schedule.
In 1949 much reconditioning of the locks was found to be necessary in order to provide dependable operation for navigation.

At that time a survey by the Army corps of engineers discovered that serious impairments had developed over 16 years of operation without underwater repair or replacement.

Since then one lock each year
was closed for a short period during the freeze up season and required repairs were completed at Lockport in 1950, Brandon Road in 1951, Marseilles in 1952, and Starved Rock in 1953.

The regular monthly board meeting of the Maue PTA was held at the home of Mrs. Chester Williams Wednesday evening March 3. Bills were approved, committee reports given and the hobby show, which is to be the feature of the April meeting, was discussed.

School was dismissed at 1 p.m. Friday because of a teachers fall caused the car Mrs. Deen Taylor was driving while enroute Tuesday evening to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Cummins, to skid off the road into a ditch. There was some damage to the car but the occupants were uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Deen Taylor and children are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Cummins, while the home they bought recently in the Southland sub-division, Tinley Park, is being completed.

Mrs. Cucchi of Chicago and her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevens and daughters of Oaklawn were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker Sunday.

Margaret Ann, four month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves, has a tooth. Her brothers Walter, Larry and Marvin are delighted because it means their baby sister is starting to grow up. They are looking forward to the day when she will be old enough to take over their dish washing chores.

Roy Cummins and son Chris of Harvey were dinner guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Cummins, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kraetsch and children, all of Chicago, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Cummins.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mrosek were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Culp Saturday evening. All enjoyed playing canasta.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Maue recently returned from a two week motor trip to the Mississippi gulf coast. There the world's longest man made beach of gleaming white sand and sea wall stretches for 26 miles. At Biloxi they boarded the San Louis deep sea boat for a day of sunshine and sea breezes, but no fish.

Traveling through this land of beauty, history and romance, they visited Beauvoir House, the beautiful home and shrine of Jefferson Davis near Gulfport. In New Orleans they found streets and buildings still standing as they were two centuries ago. They visited spots noted in Louisiana history, Jackson Square, St. Louis Cathedral, the Cabildo museum, Audubon park and zoo, and Old St. Louis cemetery laid out in 1720.

Enroute to Houston, Texas they stopped at Iberia park and museum on the banks of Bayou Teche. Here was the setting of Longfellow's poem Evangeline.

In Houston they stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Delano Wessels. They visited places of interest such as San Jacinto monument and the ship channel docks and warehouses in Houston and Galveston. They saw the rodeo and livestock show in Houston and explored the U.S.S. Texas, moored there from contributions of nickels and dimes by school children to whom the ship has been given.

Their Illinois license plates brought comments from gas station attendants on Lincoln's birthday and one man offered to substitute Lincoln's name with that of Lee. The Maues were asked "Don't you know those are fighting words down here?"

Warm weather and the floral beauty of the country they traveled through added much to the pleasure of their travels.

One Alpine housewife knows what to do with those old spare tires that clutter up the place. She finds that by filling the inner area with straw she has a good nest for her setting hens.

The many who have been asking, "When will we have another know that Robert Laing, Orland Park, will again give free in-square dance?" will be happy to structure at Maue school, Friday evening March 6. Instruction in square dancing at the school is being sponsored by the PTA.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves Sunday were her aunt, husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fiert of Blue Island and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vaitkus and daughter Terry of Berwyn.

LaVerne Dombrowsky, Cook County health nurse from the South West district office conducted eye examinations at Maue school Tuesday. Mrs. Roy Walker, PTA health chairman, assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albert, daughter Mrs. Joan Rus, and granddaughter, Iona Rus recently returned from Ormond Beach, Fla. where they vacationed for five weeks. Mr. Albert did a bit of fishing but most of their time was spent sight-seeing. Mr. and Mrs. Albert's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Janulis, John and Iona Lou, joined them during the last week of their vacation. All returned in the Janulis car.

Mrs. Herbert Schumacher, who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Show, has been disappointed to learn that her husband's expected furlough has been cancelled. A-1C Herbert Schumacher is with the United States forces in Alaska. He was expected home about March 1. The Schumachers young son, Dennis, whom the father has never seen, is suffering from an allergy.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerritt Cummins are elated over news that a daughter was born Monday in Chicago Lying-In hospital to their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cummins. Harvey. The baby weighed over eight pounds and has been named Catherine Ann. Rev. Aseltine of the Marley Baptist church dropped in for a visit before Mrs. Cummins went to the hospital.

Kind Landlords
To Bird Tenants

There's no housing shortage in the bird world because few human landlords have the heart to evict their feathered friends from tree homes, even where the house needs repairing.

Tree experts of the Davey company say they have never had a property owner ask them to remove a branch or treat a cavity where a bird was nesting. And it is company policy to always inform a customer if tree treatment will involve dispossessing birds.

For example, take the case where a robin built a nest atop the partially opened screen door of a house at Congress Lake, O. Rather than disturb the nesting bird, the home owner had a new door cut in the house, in place of a porch window.

Then there is the case of the wren that moved into the pocket of a sweater hanging on the clothesline. The sweater was left on the line until the when flew away in the fall.

When an industrious flicker drilled a hole for its nest in the trunk of a tree being treated by Davey surgeons, the owner promptly decided to let the surgery go until after the bird moved out.

This high regard for the vested rights of nesting birds is well established as a point of unwritten law. Never a season goes by without well documented stories of birds that have successfully immobilized everything from road rollers to draw bridges by selecting odd places as homesites.

Ingalls Officials
Lectures at U.
Of Minnesota

L. C. Mortrud, administrator of Ingalls Memorial hospital, will be a guest lecturer today at the Minnesota Institute for Hospital administrators, sponsored by the University of Minnesota, American College of Hospital administrators, and the Minnesota Hospital association.

He lectured on the new hospital accreditation program, with special emphasis on the medical audit as developed at Ingalls Memorial.

During the last five years at Ingalls Memorial a type of medical audit has been developed which has received international publicity. Hospitals, the official journal of the American Hospital association, published a comprehensive article by Mortrud on the Ingalls Memorial audit, as well as on the accreditation of the hospital. Medical Economics, which is circulated to 134,000 physicians and residents, also carried a story on the Ingalls accreditation. As a result of this widespread publicity Mortrud has received hundreds of letters, including many from abroad, asking for further information on how the medical audit is performed.
